Good day folks!

- If you don't know about it, let me introduce you to the Roxwell village website <http://roxwellvillage.co.uk/> It was kindly created by Joe Hedges a while back, and is now generously being run by Adam Williams from Cooksmill Green, do take a look. It should become the permanent one place, go-to website for all sorts of Roxwell info with links to other dedicated pages. But it will only ever be as good as the information displayed there and some of the village organisations need to update their pages, but immediately you will see all the photographs so far entered into our 'Roxwell in Lockdown' competition are there. Go to the home page and scroll down to 'More details here'. The photos are also on the roxwellinlockdown Facebook page, but not everyone is or wants to be on Facebook. If you need to update your organisation's page or would like something publicised, email the information to Adam at adam.w@dbsdata.co.uk
- Photographic competition 'Roxwell in Lockdown'. You will see from the website we have had several entries, but I am sure there are some gems still out there. For this reason and because some form of Lockdown is here for a while we are extending the closing date. What did you do/are you doing since this historic period began that has surprised you? Have you a pic of it? If not please take one and send to roxwellinlockdown@gmail.com it is free to enter. We hope to have some sort of display later this year and all photos will be stored in the Roxwell Revealed village archives for posterity.
